

Beware: New Trend in Theft

NW – Numerous police officials have recently noticed a new trend used by criminals to steal items from vehicles, and sent a statement to the Platinum Weekly (17 June 2011) to warn community members from all over to beware of this newly developed scam!

Incidents of this nature usually occur at home and/or parking lots. This is how it works: The perpetrator uses a gadget, similar to the victim's gate/garage and even vehicle remote control. Another gadget, to intercept a vehicle's immobilizer, is also used. When the victim leaves his/her car, he/she will press the button to lock the car. This usually occurs when the victim would get out of the car, only a few steps from their car.

In the interim, the perpetrator would then intercept the signal and as a result, the car/garage will not be "actually" locked. This is only possible if the perpetrator is standing close by. Then the obvious occurs: the perpetrator would then very easily open the vehicle/garage and steal whatever valuables are in sight. Incidents of this nature were reported in the areas of Klerksdorp, Rustenburg as well as Mahikeng. Therefore; be warned!!!

Always be on the lookout for any suspicious looking individuals, especially now that this trend is starting to evolve. Make sure your car/garage is locked before your leave. You can always check this by physically testing the doors after locking with your immobilizer.

Police investigations have thus far determined that any remote control, being that of the gate or a garage door, can be intercepted with an immobilizer of a car due to frequency it uses.
