Rustenburg – Do you enjoy camping? Then why not visit the Bosele Camp (Golden Leopard Resorts), located within the Manyane Resort in Pilanesberg. It offers a group facility in log-built dormitory-type accommodation. The well-equipped ablution blocks provide hot showers, and there is a bar, shop and restaurant within the camp, only a short walk from Bosele. There are also teaching facilities. Sold yet? Breakfast and dinner can be provided by a catering team in the dining room, and packed lunches are also part of the menu. The camp complex is surrounded by an electrified game fence, keeping out dangerous resident animals such as the lion, elephant and leopard. However, animals roaming freely around the camp include baboons, ostriches as well as vervet monkeys, all of which can be dangerous if provoked. Bosele Camp recently hosted an international group that took part in the "Act For Change" project which ran for 45 days from July 20 to September 4. It involved 40 volunteers (20 Europeans and 20 local volunteers between the ages of 18-25) that performed youth service related activities in rural and urban communities using 'Theatre of the Oppressed' and 'Street animation'. The past 2 weeks saw performances discussing Culture and it outlined Crime and Poverty. Last week the theme was Health, and their plays created awareness around HIV/Aids. They will be in Rustenburg until September the 4th. The project is aimed at promoting social awareness and creating social transformation amongst young people of different backgrounds and fosters the debate on urban and rural development through the arts. This includes Forum theatre, Invisible theatre, and story-telling, Theatre of the Oppressed, as well as music and dance. Over and above youth development and social transformation, the Act For Change project is also a means of building a generation which transcends racial, cultural, national and geographical divides. Through the cooperation of all countries involved in this project, they hope to create a world that celebrates our differences instead of using them to sow divisions.

This dynamic group is made up of youth from South Africa, Estonia, Italy, France, Bulgaria and Turkey – all with a great passion for the arts and to make a difference. The group stayed at Bosele Camp in Pilanesberg for the duration of the project, with performances being hosted every Saturday in public areas. The group performed at the Mogwase Shopping Complex, J.M. Ntsime High School and in Mafikeng at the Crossing Shopping Complex. These performances were based on themes, guided by the social problems of the host country, South Africa. Apart from the knowledge and information shared to the public, the project also empowers the volunteers with information and skills that can be used in their own respective countries to make a difference that goes beyond the duration of the project and for the rest of their lives.
