Campaign against police killings

"Enough is Enough."

Rustenburg – The North West law enforcement agents are saying "enough is enough". The SAPS held an Anti-Police Killing campaign at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Tlhabane on Thursday, 29th September 2011. The purpose of this campaign is to raise awareness to the increasing rate of police officials being murdered. The reason of the campaign being held at a church was to request the Grace and Guidance of God, and to share quality time with the community.

The SAPS wants to squeeze crime to zero, but without the help of the community, nothing can be achieved. The SAPS in the North West appealed to the community to stand together with them in this goal. Various stakeholders such as Union representatives of SAPU and POPCRU, the chairperson of the Rustenburg Cluster, Social Development, Department of Health, Business Against Crime and SAPSA Management gave their presentations on how this matter affects them.

The Rustenburg Local Municipality also voiced their concerns regarding the increasing rate of police members being murdered and will take a stand with the police and the community in the war to bring Police killings and crime to Zero. The campaign will continue on Friday 30 September 2011, at the Rustenburg Taxi Rank from 10h00.
