“Corruption is a poison the ANC as a ruling party has to deal with”

Leadership is a responsibility. It is about standing for an organisation whilst always avoiding temptation, being honest, fearless and brave. A leader puts his own life on the “back-burner”, sacrificing his time, effort and skills for the good of the organisation and the people he is serving.

Sometimes a leader even puts his own life in danger in his pursuit to fight for his organisation and the people he is serving. Our country lacks leadership – the ruling party ANC for example. The Rustenburg region ANC has a tendency to elect its own leaders, the voice of the people around the table being heard, and not the voice of the people. This creates societal problems, the most extreme example being the death squad in the province – linked to corruption and the murder of whistle-blowers. Here in Rustenburg, Councillor Moss Phakoe was murdered because he came forward and gave evidence on behalf of the Rustenburg Local Municipality against people who are committing fraud and corruption. Citizens of South Africa, this is a warning! Corruption will cause a split within the ANC and in this case president Zuma will lose his popular support.

DA’s spokesperson Lindiwe Mazibuko is young and intelligent. Her dream is to see the DA as the ruling party of the future. She would gain a lot of support, if the ANC has to split. We will not keep quiet even if you threaten to kill us, we will walk the streets. Corruption is a poison! That is why community members staying in the informal settlement called Nkaneng outside Rustenburg near Marikana were protesting on 27 Sep, demanding RDP houses because of this massive corruption. There is a real danger that if all this corruption continues, the entire state and society will be auctioned to the highest bidder, and who is the leader? Pres Jacob Zuma? Who can lead our country by ensuring that the ANC is not corrupted?

Regards,
Shimane Ditshwene
