Glitz & Glamour

Jolene Krüger – recently a judge at the Miss Rustenburg 2011 Pageant – has more than 20 years' experience in the modelling- and pageant industry, and for the past 8 years managed her own modelling school in Orkney. Her career has been filled with glitz and glamour from her teen years, as she rubbed shoulders with the likes of former Miss Universe, Margaret Gardener. She has been awarded the Senior Model prize in 1998 at Sandy B Models, and was also selected as Miss Legs at the North West Regional Show, 1st Princess, in 1999. What's more, Jolene received her Cleopatra International Professional Modelling Diploma in 1999, and was selected as a finalist in the Miss South Africa Pageant in 2004. Apart from modelling herself, Jolene has also served as a judge in numerous major modelling and beauty pageants all over South Africa including the National SA Dreamgirl as well as Miss South Africa. Jolene is not only a well-known representative for beauty and modelling, but is also involved in charity work at Hospice Rustenburg. Top of her list at the moment is a film 'Being Disobedient' where she partakes as one of the actors. This film focuses on the drug abuse of the youth, and is being filmed in the Rustenburg area.
