Bojanala hosts Film Week

Rustenburg – The Bojanala Platinum District Municipality is organizing a film week in an effort to unearth and promote the vast amount of artistic talent in the district. The festival will run from October 26 to 29 with the aim of training unemployed youth who are interested in making a living out of the industry. “The main focus will be on script writing. We hope to help in nurturing professional script writers. The best will be entered into the Sediba Programme, which is for professional script writers,” said Kea Malao, the Film Week organizer. “For the first time in Rustenburg, we will be hosting a premiere of a film, Retribution, which features Joe Mafela. We will also have many local actors during the week and we hope that this will inspire those who are interested in pursuing such a career,” added Malao. The government has identified the film industry as a sector with excellent potential for growth. Although South Africa’s contribution to global output stands at a mere 0.4%, the local film industry is growing stronger all the time. “We will premiere a movie called ‘Retribution’ starring Joe Mafela, who has also confirmed his presence at the opening.” Malao said. Amongst others, the following film stars will also be attending: Rapulana Seiphemo, Rantebeng Makapan (Thomas Mashaba – Generations), Kagiso Rakosa (Sharon – Generations), Peter Moruakgomo (Ace – Generations), as well as Presley Chweneyagae (Lead actor in the film, Tsotsi).

Free Computer Lessons!!! @ Avuxeni Computer Academy

Rustenburg – A number of students have responded to Avuxeni Computer Academy’s offer of 25 bursaries to people who are willing to learn more about basic computer skills. Johan Nel, who is the Regional Manager of Avuxeni, says the offer is still open to students who have missed the initial opportunity. He said, “We are giving out a total of 25 bursaries and I would like to encourage students to make use of this offer. Everyone is welcome! We are responding to the need to provide training to some people who might not be financially capable of paying for the training themselves.” Avuxeni also offers a variety of computer courses at certificate, advanced certificate, diploma and advanced diploma levels. For more information, please call the Avuxeni Rustenburg offices at 082 672 1832 or visit their website on www.avuxeni.co.za.

Design a Tattoo and WIN With Chaotik Ink

Rustenburg – Chaotik Ink, which focuses on professional body art and body piercing, is running a tattoo designing competition from the 24th of October 2011 until the 10th of December 2011. The best design will get a lot of exposure and publicity whilst the designer will receive 50% of the fee from the highest bidder. “We collect numerous designs from the public, but this is a chance for people to enter into a competition and win,” said

Charles Makgale, who is one of the founders of Chaotik Ink. Thabang Molaba, Tshiamo Tsikane and Tumelo Rakobane are the other three co-founders of the company, and together they create art! Chaotik Ink has helped the four founders to stay away from drugs and other forms of negative influences that affect most youths of today. “Our mission is to provide tattoo and body art of the highest quality and artistic value to the public ...at the most competitive prices ...and in a safe environment,” reiterated Charles. For more information visit Chaotik Ink at City Square Mall in Rustenburg or give a shout-out to 073 134 3206/ 074 415 3713.
