

Join Rustenburg's Choir

Rustenburg – Bragi Þór Valsson, music teacher and choral conductor at Lebone II College of the Royal Bafokeng, is the driving force behind an adult choir (for ages 18+) in Rustenburg. Anyone who wants to part of this choir is more than welcome to join! The Rustenburg Community Chorus will commence with rehearsals on Wednesday 1 February 2017 at 18h00. Those who've missed the first rehearsal is still very welcome to join!

"After a very successful first year in 2016, I am very excited about this new musical year and have in fact chosen most of the music for the year already," Bragi said in an interview with the Platinum Weekly newspaper.

The choir rehearses various music styles in various languages and no auditions are needed – as a passion for music is the only prerequisite.

The Rustenburg Community Chorus will rehearse on Wednesdays from 18:00 to 21:00 at the NG Church Proteapark. There will be weekly rehearsals, a few performances throughout the year, and a concert towards the end of November.

Interested parties should contact Bragi per email on info@rustenburgcommunitychorus.co.za or 078-390 4299. For more information visit www.rustenburgcommunitychorus.co.za.

• Bragi Þór Valsson was born in Iceland, had his first of many platinum albums by age 13, studied clarinet, singing and piano in Iceland and then a Master's in Choral Conducting in the USA. As a young man, Bragi was chosen seven times to sing in the renowned World Youth Choir. Bragi moved to South Africa to take over as Conductor of the Drakensberg Boys' Choir and has in the past years been working at Lebone II College of the Royal Bafokeng.

RLM launches IMQS

The Executive Mayor, Cllr. Mpho Khunou, seen here with Acting-Municipal Manager, Mr Gordon Molokwane, cutting the ribbon during the launch of the new service delivery digital system, IMQS, at the Rustenburg Civic Centre, on 30 January 2017.

Rustenburg – Inadequate plans and inaccurate data capturing and analysis relating to water, sanitation, waste management and related infrastructure will be a thing of the past after the Rustenburg Local Municipality launched the new service delivery digital system, namely; Infrastructure Management Solutions (IMQS), on Monday, 30 January 2017, at the Rustenburg Civic Centre.

"This modern-day digital system will go a long indeed to assist the municipality to discharge its mandate of service delivery effectively and efficiently. We will now through this system be able to budget, establish, maintain, upgrade and operate physical infrastructure assets. We will be able to optimize energy resources and plan proactively for existing and future energy demands, whilst we plan and manage infrastructure projects with excellence by gaining control over expenditure and monitoring costs," said Acting-Municipal Manager, Mr Gordon Molokwane, during the launch ceremony.

"The introduction of this modern digital system, IMQS, comes as a big relief to us as we are now in a better position to develop plans to ensure efficient, affordable, economical and sustainable provision of water and sanitation services, as well as waste and related infrastructure, thus ensuring quality and timeous service delivery to our residents, as we together continue to move Rustenburg forward," remarked Executive Mayor, Cllr Mpho Khunou, during the launch.
