

Counterfeit crook caught

Not to be messed with... Constable (cst) Kagiso Lefike, cst Letlhogonolo Tong, cst Molemela Setona, cst Khumo Tlhoka, cst Marvin Mafoko, cst Lesley Mokgantshang and cst Alfred Letlwa, the police instrumental in the arrest of the suspect.

Loads of cash... counterfeit notes found in the possession of the suspect.

Rustenburg – The Crime Combatting Task Team made a major breakthrough on Tuesday, 16 January, when they apprehended a 52-year old man for fraud in the Central Business District (CBD).

The police made the arrest after receiving information of a suspect who was in possession of instruments he uses to con unsuspecting victims out of their hard-earned cash. The suspect was successfully traced and found in possession of counterfeit notes and pamphlets. Preliminary investigations revealed that as part of defrauding members of the public, the suspect posed as a professor, a pastor and a Sangoma. Investigations into the matter including linking the suspect to other cases continue.

"We urge the community to be aware of people who promise to multiply your money; this is a scam! Be aware of advertisements that promise instant wealth and happiness," says lieutenant colonel Pelonomi Makau, police spokesperson.

JOIN THE MARCH

Community march against human trafficking, brothels and drugs

Rustenburg – The Rustenburg Local Municipality welcomes the community to join in a public march against brothels as well as human and drug trafficking activities.

"We remain focused on cleaning the city, by ensuring that all brothels, human and drug trafficking activities are curbed and permanently shut down," says Andrew Seome, municipal spokesperson.

Date: 19 January 2018

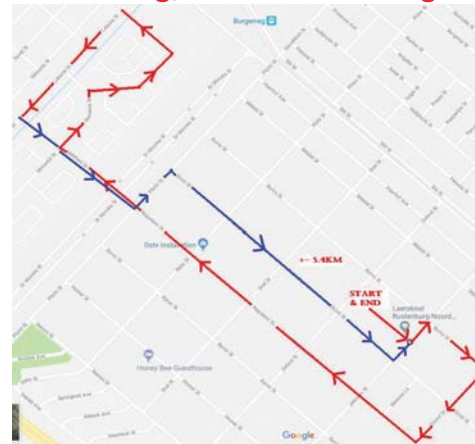

Time: 17h00

Venue: Laerskool Rustenburg's sports grounds (starting point)

The public march will start at Laerskool Rustenburg's sports grounds, and then continue through Rustenburg North, passing to the Tlhabane Clinic (Reuben Monareng Street), then heading back to the school.

For more information, please contact superintendent Lydia Magope on 083-548 5739.

"We as AfriForum Neighbourhood Watch fully support our executive mayor and public safety officers in their effort to rid Rustenburg of criminals. Please come and support us!" says Johan de Klerk, head of safety, Rustenburg AfriForum Neighborhood Watch. "Bring your family, friends and everyone you know! We need to stand together and show these criminals we have had enough!"
