

Die uitsterf van die Peperbasboom

SA nommer 488 Warburgia salutaris – 'n Peperbasboom.

Hallo daar,

Ek is 'n boom en my naam is Peperbas. Ek het 'n slim naam ook, maar as ek ouer word sal ek seker my slim naam kan onthou. Ek is nou amper drie jaar oud. My pa sê ek gaan baie groot word. So vyf tot tien meter, maar die ouens wat vir die Springbokke slot speel word tot 20 meter lank. Ek hou die hele jaar my blare. Ek is baie spesiaal want mense gebruik veral my bas vir die genesing van 'n verskeidenheid van siektes, maar ook my wortels en blare. Dit is ook omdat ons so spesiaal is dat my pa sê ons Peperbasse is besig om uit sterf. Ons is op die rooi lys van bome wat uitsterf. In die natuur stroop mense ons blare, bas en wortels en dan gaan ons dood. Dit maak my baie bang. Ek wens so daar is oulike mense wat my kan aanneem en my grootmaak sodat ons nie sal uitsterf nie. Ek groei maklik in enige grond en jy sal baie trots wees op my.

Groete,
Peperbas

AfriForum Rustenburg het 'n projek geloods en Peperboompies aangekoop, direk uit die wildtuin om die Peperbasboom van uitwissing te red. Hulle vra R200.

INVESTING IN A YOUNG WOMAN'S GROWTH THROUGHOUT HER CAREER MEANS PROGRESS FOR HER FAMILY.

PROGRESS. TOGETHER.
INDIVIDUALS, FAMILIES AND COMMUNITIES.

When Daphney Khupari from Tlakgameng village near Vryburg is the first in her family to graduate from university, she applies for training in engineering with Glencore. She gets the opportunity and support she needs from Rustenburg Smelter. Which means she qualifies for the position of Instrument Technician. Her hard work and success enable her to contribute to the progress of her family and give hope to the community she's from. And because 28% of Glencore's middle managers are female, Daphney can see a clear career path for herself.

Daphney is just one of many who have benefitted from bursaries, training and employment opportunities provided by Glencore - a diverse workforce is good for our business and good for communities. We believe that a single act can make a difference. It creates a ripple effect that can be felt throughout families and communities.
