DIAMOND, COPPER AND NYOPE BUST

Rustenburg – Members of the Phokeng K9 and Crime Intelligence units discovered copper cable to the value of R3,000 in Kgale section, Phokeng during an operation on Monday, 12 November.

The same day, an ad hoc operation was conducted in Lethabong by members of the Cluster Crime Combatting Unit (CCCU) and the Lethabong police department to address the illegal possession of drugs. They arrested a suspect for the illegal possession of 240 individually wrapped units of the drug generally known as Nyope. The street value of the Nyope is estimated at about R12,000.

The next day, Tuesday 13 November, Rustenburg Crime Intelligence received information regarding a suspect allegedly in possession of an uncut diamond in the Rustenburg central business district (CBD). The information was followed up by members of the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation (DPCI). Police confronted two suspects whereafter one of the suspects presented the diamond. After confirmation that the diamond is indeed a precious stone, the two suspects were arrested for possession of an uncut diamond and detained. The value of the diamond is estimated at R15,000.
