Sibanye braces for second AMCU strike – in Rustenburg

Rustenburg – Sibanye-Stillwater, reeling from a nine-week strike by Association of Mineworkers and Construction Union (AMCU) at its gold operations, is bracing for further labour action as the union prepares for a secondary strike at the firm's Rustenburg mines next week. AMCU says it has filed a notice for a strike at Sibanye's platinum operations, to pile pressure on the company to consider the union's wage demands. The secondary strike at Sibanye's platinum mines in Rustenburg would affect about five mines. It is a secondary strike to the ongoing action by members at the gold mine. About 15 000 AMCU members at Sibanye's gold operations south of Johannesburg downed tools in November, demanding an annual wage increase of R1 000 for the next three years. The union has filed a notice with the mine and intend to go on strike on Tuesday 22 January. The workers' demands remain.

A fire in the dark

Rustenburg – Rustenburg was plunged into darkness on the evening of Sunday 13 January after Eskom's main transformer went up in flames. The sub-station that caught fire, is not part of Rustenburg Local Municipality's (RLM) assets. Once again, we had to light a candle for Eskom as residents waited for the power to be restored.

The sub-station engulfed in flames.
