Costumes and karaoke

From left: Zahné Kloppe, Marius Breytenbach, Lehan Steynberg, Dewaldt Havenga and Monique van den Bergh came dressed for the party.

Rustenburg – Have you ever wanted to sing karaoke? Have you ever wanted to get on stage and sing karaoke hiding behind a mask? The Newrak Impala Rugby Club hosted an entertaining event on Friday 1 February to launch their new pub lunch menu. The attendees came dressed in fun costumes and danced the night away. Lehan Steynsburg received the well-deserved title of best dressed in meticulous detail to his half-man half-robot look. Others took to the stage and entertained the crowd with their karaoke anthems. The star of the evening was the club's menu that is suited for the whole family with items like T-bone for the very hungry, sandwiches for the peckish, the classic burger and even something for the little ones. In an interview with Platinum Weekly, food and beverage manager Hannes van Deventer said: "We want to create a place where people can come together. We want people to come and enjoy themselves without the thought of where are we going to eat dinner." The bar is also stocked with a much wider variety and the great atmosphere predicts only good times ahead. The kitchen will be open on weekdays from 10:00 to 19:00, no reservations needed.

Making memories.

It was an evening for the album!
