RHS ROCKS!

RHS' choir

Rustenburg – Hoërskool Rustenburg's (RHS) choir has set the internet ablaze with their rendition of the iconic Queen song, Bohemian Rhapsody, with almost a million YouTube hits.

The young rock stars and choir conductor Ralf Schmitt pay tribute to #FreddieMercury and Queen's hit #BohemianRhapsody – considered the greatest song of all time – with their very own unique choral interpretation.

The video, which was posted on the school's Facebook page on Monday 5 August, has already amassed nearly half a million views in little over a day – there is no stopping it!

Besides the talented singing, this video of the RHS school choir shows that a lot of time and effort went into the productions of the video with choir members performing the song at multiple locations, and it is seamlessly edited with technically complicated camera angles.
