

SHIB LENDING A HELPING HAND

Swaruggens – Through the efforts of a company based in Holland, called SHIB, enough funds were raised to assist Pastor Venessa Joubert in her dream to better the lives of abused women and children.

Volunteers from Holland came to Swaruggens, South Africa and started to lay the foundation for the Christ Crisis Centre on 5 August.

This centre will be a safe haven for abused children and women. Counselling, food and shelter will be offered to the victims that takes refuge at the centre.

The ground-breaking ceremony was attended by various dignitaries including mayor Amos Amogelang Selaledi.

“Thank you to everyone that attended the ceremony. Together we help those who were once victims, become survivors. I am filled with gratitude to the volunteers from SHIB, your support is making this dream a reality,” Venessa said in an interview with Platinum Weekly.

Volunteer at SHIP Dianne van Veen said: “I love coming to South Africa, the people here are amazing. Coming here and helping those in need is such a remarkable experience and opportunity. I am thankful to be part of this project.”

“We rely heavily on donations. If you can assist in away way – we would be most grateful,” said Venessa.
