

SIBANYE-STILLWATER RECEIVES JT RYAN AWARD

Rustenburg – Sibanye Stillwater is pleased to announce that they received the prestigious JT Ryan award for outstanding safety turnaround in 2018-2019 in the category of most improved company at the annual South African Mining Industry (SAMI) safety, health and environment (SHE) awards on Friday 25 October.

"The health, safety and wellness of our employees is our top priority at Sibanye Stillwater and this award is testament to this," said Sibanye-Stillwater head of stakeholder relations Thabisile Phumo.

This internationally recognised award is named after the founder of Canadian company Mine Safety Appliance (MSA) JT Ryan. The award itself is a sculpture depicting a father arriving safely home from work at the mine, holding his son and daughter.

The JT Ryan award is an annual floating trophy awarded to the mine with the most improved safety record. The winners are determined by an impartial panel of judges representing the South African Institute of Mining and Metallurgy (SAIMM), the Association of Mine Managers of South Africa (AMMSA), the South African Colliery Managers Association (SACMA) and the Metallurgical Mine Managers Association (MMA).

This great news came after the company announced 8 million fatality free shifts throughout its gold operations up to 18 October 2019.
