RING CONTACT FIGHTERS COMPETE

Rustenburg – The Rockwood Theatre in Pretoria was the venue for an exciting martial arts contest, which was held on Saturday 22 February. Spectators and competitors converged at the venue for the Ring Contact Fighting Art national championships.

Ring Contact Fighting Arts were established during the 1970s by combining amateur wrestling, judo, boxing, royal ballet, modern dancing and kyokushin kai karate.

It has continued to become a popular martial arts sport in South Africa and other parts of the world. Well done to the following fighters who fared exceptionally well in their respective categories:

- Lourens Tolmay - second place - kata
  - Zane Vosloo - second place – fighting
  - Lucia Sikho – first place - kata
  - Lucia Sikho - second place - fighting
  - Anelia Bronkhorst - second place - kata,
  - sensei Thereasa Tolmay- second place – kata
  - Deon Munnik – third place – kata
  - Annelie Burger – first place - kata
- Burger placed first in the fitness challenge and second in fighting. Wyat Vosloo, master Joe Viljoen and Heyndri Heymans also put up a good effort during the contest.

Some of the participants of the championships displayed their accolades.

LARRIES SIT HUL BESTE VOETJIE VOOR

Rustenburg – Laerskool Rustenburg se jongspan het omtrent uitgehaal en gewys tydens hul idiomedag op Vrydag 28 Februarie.

Leerders moes idioome uitbeeld deur hul kleredrag en die klomp was vreeslik kreatief met hul uitrustings.

De Villiers Pretorius het lag-lag 'uit Noag se ark uitgebeeld'.
