IMPROVE YOUR HEARING WITH HEARING AIDS

Have you ever thought about how it must feel to become hearing impaired? Maybe you experience a form of hearing loss already?

THERE ARE DIFFERENT DEGREES OF HEARING LOSS.

Mild hearing loss: Can only hear sounds when they are at 30 dB and higher. Unable to hear soft sounds and difficulty to understand speech in noisy surroundings.

Moderate hearing loss: Can only hear sounds when they are at 50 dB and higher. Unable to hear soft and moderately loud sounds, considerable difficulty in understanding speech, particularly with background noise.

Severe hearing loss: Can only hear sounds when they are at 71 dB and higher. Unable to hear most sounds. Group conversations is possible – only with considerable effort.

Profound hearing loss: Can only hear sounds when they are at 91 dB and higher. Some very loud sounds are audible but communication without a hearing instrument or sign language is very difficult.

PROSTHESIS-HEARING DEVICES

When surgery or medication is not successful in restoring hearing loss anymore, hearing devices must be considered. There is no alternative for nerve deafness.

Today, hearing devices are possibly one of the smallest technological components ever developed in electronics. The new era of digital technology in hearing aids has changed the lives of many hearing-impaired people. With frequency specific amplification, it is now possible to improve the speech to noise ratio, therefore users will experience better speech understanding in noisy surroundings.

Different hearing programmes are utilised for maximum speech understanding in noisy surroundings. The amount of sound channels and microphones also make these instruments better than their counterparts but at a higher price.

For cosmetic sensitive wearers, the size of the hearing aid is the name of the game. Therefore, the in-the-ear (ITE) or completely in-the-canal (CIC) are the most popular aids. Severe and profound hearing losses, however, need more powerful hearing aids which are the behind-the-ear (BTE).

The latest hearing aid technology streams the full audio band width in real time and bi-directionally, tackling challenging listening situations by simulating what the brain does with sounds from both ears.

ENJOY THE CAPACITY OF HEARING

Unlike any other hearing aids available, these can connect directly to either your iOS or Android smartphone or other Bluetooth enabling cellphones to stream any kind of audio and also true hands-free phone calls, stereo sound quality for music, videos, e-books, podcasts, air streaming to any TV or stereo system.

It's just like using wireless headphones – maybe even better, because these hearing aids can distinguish between streamed speech and music signals, and automatically adjust to give you an optimised sound quality. The high technology digital instruments are programmed for each person according to their hearing test which is fed into a computer to obtain maximum speech recognition.

Did you know that a person with more than 90% hearing loss can benefit from a hearing aid and have good communication?

Did you know that hearing-impaired learners can attend classes in a normal stream with other children, even at high school level?

But even more sensational! Did you know that a child born many years ago with profound hearing loss of 100dB would have been classified as deaf and dumb, only being able to communicate with hand signals? These children can now be diagnosed a few weeks after birth, fitted with powerful hearing aids, receive speech therapy and be able to learn their mother tongue.
