BABY FOUND IN BUSHES

Rustenburg – A deceased foetus—estimated to have developed to about six months old—was found abandoned and discarded in the bushes near the low water bridge in Watsonia Avenue on Sunday 5 March 2023. According to an eyewitness, a recycler looking for cans found the foetus and went to a nearby shop where he alerted people to call for help. The witness said that the foetus was wrapped in a blanket and placed in a black bag. ER24 arrived at the scene at 13:07 where they found the foetus next to the towel. ER24 Rustenburg branch operations manager Marchant

Jacobs confirmed that the baby was declared dead at the scene. It is estimated that the foetus was left there the previous evening, but the hot weather and insect activity acted as a catalyst to decomposition. Sadly, due to state of the foetus, they were unable to tell if it was a boy or girl. Rustenburg police spokesperson captain Elsabé Augoustides confirmed that police are investigating a case of concealment of birth.

Anyone with information on this case should please contact investigating officer sergeant Tebogo Tshidi on 082 772 8658.

Motorbike driver and motorist collide

Rustenburg – A car and a motorbike travelling along Beyers Naude Drive collided on Wednesday 1 March 2023. The collision resulted in the car ploughing into Auto Africa Investments. The accident occurred at the corner of Beyers Naude and Heystek Street at approximately 16:45. The driver of the car, a white Renault Kwid, was travelling towards the Rustenburg central business district (CBD) while the driver of the motorbike was attempting to cross the busy road from Heystek Street. An eyewitness told Platinum Weekly that the driver of the motorbike was “lucky to be alive.” “The young driver of the motorbike shot into the air when the car hit him. I am not sure who had the right of way, but I am relieved that nobody lost their lives,” the eyewitness said. A woman who was at the scene of the accident said that she decided to stop after she had identified the white car. “The driver of the Renault was with us at Medicare Hospital. I gave her directions on how to drive out of the hospital complex. Moments later, she got involved in the accident. I spotted her car whilst I was driving past,” the woman said. Paramedics from ER24 were at the scene. The woman was treated for shock and was transported to hospital for observation only. The driver of the motorcycle sustained scratches on his hands,” said ER24 Rustenburg branch operations manager Marchant Jacobs.

Many people gathered at the scene of the accident after the car crashed into the Auto Africa Investments fence.

Tragedy strikes twice, partner of murdered farmer attacked on Rex Road

Rustenburg – A 53-year-old medical doctor was ambushed by five men on a farm on the Rex Road on Friday 3 March. The unfortunate victim was on her way to work when she stopped to open her gate, only to be violently overpowered by the group. According to Buffel Sekuriteit and Rustenburg Landelike Diens owner, Charl Visser, the attackers forced her back into her vehicle and demanded that she lead them to her house. Upon arrival, they searched the premises and made inquiries about the whereabouts of her partner, who sadly passed away in September 2022. The assailants then ransacked the property and fled in her Volkswagen Touareg, stealing various electronics and jewellery. Following the traumatic ordeal, the woman managed to flee to a nearby neighbour's house for assistance. The victim's partner, Frans Venter, suffered a similar fate when he was brutally murdered on the same farm in September 2022. While two of his attackers Sibos Msiza Mapfoza (29) and Nokosinathi Sibanda (27) are currently in custody after they were denied bail, the other two remain at large. The case has been postponed to 16 May 2023.

Meanwhile, the recent house robbery and vehicle theft incident was reported to the police, and a case has been opened. Captain Elsabé Augoustides, the police spokesperson, has confirmed the incident and the ongoing investigation.

CAR THIEVES HAVE A SHOOTOUT WITH POLICE

Rustenburg/ Olifantsnek – Two car thieves were caught after a shootout with the police at the R24 and R30 junction on Friday 3 March 2023. Police were following up on information regarding a vehicle which had been spotted at several spots where vehicle thefts were reported, when they noticed the same vehicle with four occupants on the R24 heading towards Magaliesberg. The numberplate was traced and came back as fake, so their sirens were activated, and they set chase. According to an eyewitness the suspects made a U-turn and during their attempt to flee, they started throwing tools—presumably used for stealing cars—out of the vehicle’s window. “The vehicle was cut off at the T-junction where it came to a standstill and shots were fired at the police. Police returned fire and a suspect was shot in the face,” said Rustenburg police spokesperson captain Elsabé Augoustides. Two arrests were made, namely the injured suspect and one of the other suspects. Unfortunately, the other two suspects managed to escape. In the vehicle they found more items used to steal cars as well as an unlicensed firearm.

Police apprehended suspected car thieves at the R24 and R30 junction.

STILL NO CHANGE IN DISASTROUS SEWAGE CONUNDRUM

Rustenburg – For more than a month the residents living close to Arend Road have had to put up with the horrible smell of sewage flowing through the streets. The problem started when a sewerage pipe burst in Arend Road in early February 2023. Several attempts by the Rustenburg Local Municipality (RLM) to repair the damaged pipes in Arend Road have only resulted in more problems as damage was caused to a clean water line, a stormwater pipe, and an additional sewerage line. The clean water supply pipe was repaired, but the damage to the sewerage line and the stormwater pipe caused a new leak and the sewerage line—approximately 4 metres deep—which needed to be replaced from the manhole at the intersection of Loerie Avenue and Arend Road. It soon became clear that the help of a private service provider had to be called in. According to ward 14 Democratic Alliance (DA) councillor Gert du Plessis, the process was delayed due to the pending approval by RLM’s supply chain management deviation to make use of a private sector provider to repair the damaged sewerage line. Du Plessis confirmed on 6 March 2023 that the sanitation unit manager informed him that the supply chain management deviation was approved by supply chain management, but it still needed to be signed off by the acting municipal manager before a service provider could be authorised to replace the damaged Sewerage line. Platinum Weekly reported on Friday 10 February 2023 about the dead fish that had started to surface at one of Arendskloof’s dams while the stench of sewage made life uncomfortable for the members of the secure community. Because sewage significantly reduces the oxygen in clean water, the dam’s fish population quickly started to deteriorate. Big Time Construction’s owner Jay Jay Esterhuizen, who assists with the maintenance at Arendskloof, luckily had the necessary knowledge and equipment to temporarily deal with the situation. Until repairs have been made, there is nothing they can do but to remove the dead fish. Esterhuizen told Platinum Weekly on 8 March 2023 that one can see spots where the fish are surfacing as they gasp for oxygen. Removing the dead fish not only costs the complex thousands of rands, but the situation also remains a big health risk for the community. At time of going to print, there was no update from the RLM on the matter.

Sewage is still flowing into Arendskloof’s dams.

SHOOTOUT IN MALL PARKING

Rustenburg – A customer was robbed of a large sum of cash at Waterfall Mall at approximately 12:00 on Thursday 2 March 2023. Rustenburg police spokesperson captain Elsabé Augoustides told the Platinum Weekly that the victim and two of his colleagues were in Waterfall Mall’s underground parking while they waited for one of the colleagues to finish a call. They were then approached by two armed suspects who held them at gunpoint and forced them to the victim’s vehicle. The suspects ransacked the vehicle and took an undisclosed amount of cash, cellphones, 35 rounds of ammunition, and an empty ammunition magazine, after which the victims were instructed to remain still in the vehicle. However, as the suspects fled the scene, shots were exchanged between the two parties. The suspects managed to flee the scene in white Toyota Hilux. An eyewitness who is yet to recover from the trauma of the shootout relayed the scene to Platinum Weekly. The witness—who prefers to remain anonymous—described the harrowing ordeal at the basement parking area of the mall. “It happened a couple of metres away from me,” said the man, “when I heard the shots, my first instinct was to lie down on my stomach because it’s not wise to remain standing during such a dangerous situation. When I looked up, I saw two men with bags getting into a bakkie before they sped off. Nobody got hurt, but just thinking about the shooting makes me shiver. It was a traumatic experience for all of us who were there,” he concluded. Another eyewitness described how customers fled into his small shop and huddled together as they tried to evade the gunfire. “There was a brief pause after the sound of the first shot echoed through the basement, then came the second shot and then the rest of the shots started flying,” he added. The Waterfall Mall’s tactical team immediately responded to the scene, and no one was injured during the shootout. “Our team is trained to act immediately and are currently assisting SAPS with the investigation. The security team is always on high alert, the safety of both shoppers and tenants is our top priority. Waterfall Mall urges shoppers to not carry large sums of cash and to always remain vigilant. Should you discover that you are being followed, or feel uncomfortable in any way, please report to mall security,” said Waterfall Mall marketing manager Jessica Varty. Captain Augoustides urges the community to not carry large sums of cash with them and to please be vigilant—if something looks suspicious rather drive away or alert security. She confirmed that a case of armed robbery is being investigated. If you need to report an incident at the mall, or feel unsafe, please contact the Waterfall Mall Security Control Room on 014 537 3600.

Impala expansion empowers suppliers

Rustenburg – Impala Rustenburg celebrated its improved 16-shaft operation with its official launch on Wednesday 1 March 2023 in Kanana. Impala Rustenburg invested just over R40 million to expand the facilities at its 16-shaft operation.

This is to accommodate the company's growth over the past few years, which has seen an additional 2,000 people employed by the platinum group metals producer. The expansion includes modern offices, a change house, and lamp room facilities, which will contribute to improving the 16-shaft morale, culture, efficiency, and productivity.

The project was completed in partnership with a women-owned mine-community SMME from Kanana, Mmakgoge Group. The tender selection criteria required the successful company to be a local, women-owned business, and with significant industry experience. Local sub-contractors from mine-host communities were also employed for the project, further benefitting Impala Rustenburg's communities. The project involved at least 110 employees on site, and the ad hoc use of local sub-contractors exclusively from local communities.

Mark Munroe, chief executive at Impala Rustenburg, expressed his pride in sharing the positive impact of the expansion, saying, "We are excited to announce the opening of our new facilities at 16-shaft. This investment in our operations improves our efficiency and created opportunities for the communities around us. We remain committed to providing safe, sustainable and value-adding mining practices while also investing in the local business community to ultimately create a better future for all our stakeholders."

Speaking at the launch, executive mayor of the Rustenburg local municipality (RLM) councillor Sheila Mabale-Huma said, "There are many lessons to be learnt from Impala. They have taught me that you can't expect high levels of productivity if you don't take care of your workers. This new facility is testament to Impala's focus on ensuring that workers are happy. I am impressed by Impala's wall of fame, which motivates employees to come to work, work hard and do well. I am equally impressed with Impala's emphasis on ensuring that local communities benefit from procurement and tenders and that a woman in a construction business from a local community was awarded the opportunity to undertake this project."

Impala Rustenburg's investment in the new 16-shaft facilities underscores its commitment to responsible mining practices and supporting local communities. In the face of large-scale unemployment in Rustenburg and throughout South Africa, Impala Rustenburg's continued growth is a positive development. The company is committed to building a sustainable future for the mining industry in South Africa and ensuring continued investment in its local business community. Impala Rustenburg, press release extracts, March 2023

Mmakgoge Group director Dineo Modungwa commended Impala Rustenburg for providing opportunities that allow for women empowerment.

Attention Rustenburg job-seekers!

Beware of job scams!

Don't fall victim to fraudsters who promise you job placements for a fee.

Let's do it for Rustenburg!

[Letter to the editor]

Rustenburg - I know the Donkerhoek cemetery does not fall under my ward, but I am asking for help. I'm not writing this message to criticise the Rustenburg Local Municipality (RLM) because I don't know what their obstacles are regarding the cemetery. The Rustenburg Crime Combating Forum (RCCF) keep guard at the cemetery on the last Sunday of every month. The reason we do this is so that people have the opportunity to visit the graves of their loved ones without the fear of being attacked. The tall grass in the cemetery is a haven for criminals. During our last patrol on Sunday 26 February 2023, it was terrible to see the visitors struggling through the tall grass. Because this area needs urgent attention, I would like to invite all community members and councillors to come together and make a plan to cut the grass and tidy the area. We are not doing this for RLM, but for the community of Rustenburg. We can also invite RLM to come and clean this place with us, but we need to do something about it!

Kobus Ferreira

Some of the graves are barely visible in the tall grass.

Disrespecting the Dead and Compromising Justice

Rustenburg – In late January 2023, Platinum Weekly received news from a family who had a harrowing experience at a forensic mortuary while trying to identify a family member who was initially suspected to have died from unnatural causes. Before we share the family's experience, however, we will provide key definitions, contextualise the status of our local forensic mortuary, and review forensic mortuary health regulations.

Key Definitions:

- Forensic mortuary: a facility where the bodies of individuals who have died from unnatural causes, or suspected unnatural causes, are taken to undergo a post-mortem examination to determine the cause of death.
- Unnatural causes: refers to homicides, suicides, accidents, medical errors, and alcohol or drug overdoses.
- Decomposition of a human body: the natural process in which the tissues of a human body break down and deteriorate after death.
- Autopsy (also known as a post-mortem): the examination of a corpse, or remains thereof, through dissection in order to determine the cause of death.
- Rigor mortis: the stiffening of joints and muscles in a body that occurs a few hours after death.
- Forensic pathologist: a certified individual who performs the post-mortem examination of a corpse.
- Preparation: refers to any action aimed at preparing human remains for a funeral, cremation, export, or other disposal and includes the embalming of such remains.

Our forensic mortuary

The Phokeng Forensic Mortuary used to provide forensic pathology services to the Rustenburg, Kgetleng, and Moses Kotane sub-districts, but was “temporarily” closed in October 2021. According to a press release from the North West Department of Health dated 1 October 2021, the facility faced numerous infrastructure challenges, including water, electrical, building, and fixed equipment breakages, which severely affected the functionality of its forensic services. As a result, the facility was temporarily closed with immediate effect for maintenance.

Forensic services were supposed to be rerouted to the Brits Forensic Mortuary, but in the meantime, a contract was given to a local funeral home in Tlhabane to provide the forensic mortuary services. However, due to limited space at the funeral home in Tlhabane, if a body is not collected or claimed within four days, it is sent to Brits.

More than a year later, the Phokeng Forensic Mortuary is still closed, and the bodies of those who have died from unnatural causes are still taken to the funeral home in Tlhabane, which will be referred to as “the forensic mortuary in Tlhabane” for the purposes of this article.

Hygiene regulations of a mortuary:

The Department of Health's National Health Act, 2003 (ACT NO. 61 OF 2003) includes regulations regarding the management of human remains, and specifies the following requirements for funeral undertakers and mortuary premises (extracts):

- The preparation room must have adequate ventilation and lighting to eliminate obnoxious odours and vapours.
- The temperature of any human remains shall not exceed 5°C within three hours of arrival on the premises and 15°C during preparation.
- Effective backup facilities for electricity must be available in case of power failure.
- All solid waste on the premises of a funeral undertaker or mortuary shall be kept in corrosion-resistant and rodent-proof containers with tight-fitting lids and disposed of according to the solid waste management requirements of the relevant local government.
  - Employees and any other persons involved in handling human remains must be provided with clean and appropriate protective clothing, including surgical gloves, gumboots, plastic aprons designed to hang over the top of gumboots, face masks, and linen overcoats, and must wear such clothing whenever handling remains.
    - The premises must be free of insects, offensive odours, gases, and fumes.

Case study: A family's experience

In late January 2023, a family who resides in Pretoria travelled to Rustenburg to identify the body of a loved one who was taken to the forensic mortuary in Tlhabane. Initially unsure of where to locate the body, they went to the Rustenburg police station, which referred them to the Phokeng police station, which in turn directed them to the forensic mortuary in Tlhabane.

Upon arrival, they were informed that the body was in Brits and had to wait for three hours until the body arrived in Tlhabane. Another family in a similar situation had been waiting for even longer. Although the employees were wearing the necessary attire, including masks and gloves, they were not wearing plastic aprons as stipulated by the department's regulations. The family also received masks, but not gloves.

The family raised a concern about the dirty floors of the mortuary. “To my understanding, mortuaries are supposed to be clean, but this was not the case here. We don’t know the cause of the dirty floors, but where we viewed the body, the floors didn’t look sanitary at all,” said a family member.

The worst moment of their experience was when they viewed the body of their deceased loved one. The family had to use their masks to swat the flies away from the deceased's mouth. The body was also badly decomposed, which made it difficult to identify their loved one, and they had to rely on the scars and tattoos of the deceased to confirm the identity. The family also couldn't obtain the autopsy reports due to a problem with the printers.

The cold hard facts:

Platinum Weekly reached out to a forensic pathology expert to determine the natural stages of decomposition.

- Decomposition begins several minutes after a person passes away, and approximately three hours after death, rigor mortis sets in.
- Within the first 12 hours, blisters appear on internal organs, and the skin's top layer will begin to loosen.
- Within 24-48 hours, the internal organs begin to decompose, and the body begins to emit a strong odour.
- Within three to five days, the internal organs have decomposed, and the skin turns a greenish colour because of decomposing blood. During this stage, bacteria begin to multiply and process bodily materials. They produce gases such as methane, carbon dioxide, nitrogen, and hydrogen sulphide which cause the body to bloat.
- If insects (for example, flies) are present in the environment surrounding the body, maggots begin to hatch and feed on body tissue causing the skin to slip and the hair to detach.
- To delay the decomposition process, corpses need to be in a refrigerated environment of 3°C and a body's temperature should not exceed 5°C.

How load shedding affects the dead

According to the Funeral Industry Regulation Association (FIRA), loadshedding has a dire effect on the industry. Mortuary refrigerators need to operate at a minimum of 3°C. If mortuaries don't follow the rules and regulations or don't have the necessary control measures installed, the decomposition process won't be delayed.

Not an isolated incident

This family's unfortunate experience is not an isolated incident. A local funeral director told Platinum Weekly that he often warns relatives to prepare themselves for the worst when visiting the forensic mortuary in Tlhabane.

According to one of his clients, when they went to identify a loved one, they were taken to what looked like a passageway for identification, rather than a formal viewing room. Another family reported a bad smell at the mortuary, which could be caused by a lack of ventilation or extractor fans.

Platinum Weekly has also received information that the refrigerators at the forensic mortuary in Tlhabane have reached temperatures close to 20°C. Furthermore, a witness informed us that the generator is only turned on when the pathologist is present to conduct an autopsy.

Dire consequences

If you die from suspicious or unnatural causes, your body will be sent to the forensic mortuary in Tlhabane until an autopsy can be performed. There is no standard time frame for autopsies, but pathologists recommend that they be conducted within 72 hours. "Unfortunately, due to the high number of unnatural deaths and few doctors/pathologists in South Africa, autopsies may take longer to be performed," said the forensic pathology expert. Identifying a decomposing relative is traumatising, to say the least. However, the situation at the forensic mortuary has even further-reaching consequences. In cases where a deceased person has no means of identification, it is imperative that the body is properly preserved so that they can remain identifiable for longer and their fingerprints can be taken to trace and inform relatives. "Once bloating sets in and there is peeling of the skin, it may be a challenge to take fingerprints," noted the forensic pathology expert.

In cases of homicides, families need justice to be served. FIRA chairman Johan Rousseau emphasised that it is extremely important to ensure that a deceased person is placed in a refrigerated environment as soon as possible. "The longer a corpse is exposed to natural elements like heat and flies, the more evidence may be compromised. How can a pathologist collect efficient evidence during an autopsy if the body has reached the stage where the skin is starting to come off? They can't check for injuries to the organs if the organs are decomposed," said Rousseau.

In conclusion

If you were to lose a loved one due to unnatural causes or suspected unnatural causes, you would have to go to an unsanitary forensic mortuary with a suspicious odour, only to see your relative's body in a severe state of decomposition. This matter also raises the question of how many criminals are walking free due to lost forensic evidence.

Are these circumstances unique to Rustenburg, or are there other forensic mortuaries in South Africa operating in the same manner?

Platinum Weekly reached out to a representative of the forensic mortuary in Tlhabane and received the following response: “You can contact the Bojanala Department of Health for a comment on the management of the facilities.”

Platinum Weekly sent inquiries regarding the matter to both the North West Department of Health and the Bojanala Department of Health, but unfortunately, we did not receive feedback at the time of going to print.

Do you give cash to the 'needy'?

The unemployed and homeless often rely on the generosity of others to survive. On the one hand, the money given probably does help a hungry mouth, but on the other hand, it might also enable the needy to keep asking for money at the robots. Where do you stand on this?

No. I think with cash there can be temptations and sometimes the money isn't wisely spent. But because I want to help, I prefer to give them food.
Therese Schutte

Yes. The religion of Islam believes in giving to charity all the time; whether it's bread, clothes, money, or food parcels. People are really struggling with unemployment and homelessness. You will be rewarded for every penny you give. So, give a little to the needy, and you will see and feel the difference it makes in your life.
Faried Saloojee

Yes. I do give to the needy when I can see that they are really struggling. I also give them food whenever I can.

SOULFOOD

PSALM 132:1-9

The Eternal Dwelling of God in Zion
A Song of Ascents.

Lord, remember David
1:And all his afflictions;
2:How he swore to the Lord,
And vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob:
3:"Surely I will not go into the chamber of my house,
Or go up to the comfort of my bed;
4:I will not give sleep to my eyes
Or slumber to my eyelids,
5:Until I find a place for the Lord,
A dwelling place for the Mighty One of Jacob."
6:Behold, we heard of it in Ephrathah;
We found it in the fields of [a]the woods.
7:Let us go into His tabernacle;
Let us worship at His footstool.
8:Arise, O Lord, to Your resting place,
You and the ark of Your strength.
9:Let Your priests be clothed with righteousness,
And let Your saints shout for joy.

THE ROAD INCIDENT MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS AWARDS BOJANALA'S BEST

ER24 Rustenburg branch operations manager Marchant Jacobs has 25 years' experience in responding to emergency situations.

Trauma Rescue's industrial operations manager, Rayno Dempers, was awarded with the best joint incident command post.

Department of Community Safety and Transport Management control provincial inspector Johan Esterhuizen received three RIMS awards.

Rustenburg – The Road Incident Management Systems (RIMS) works towards maintaining the safety levels of South Africa's roads by managing safety responses to road incidents. The excellent service of RIMS role players was awarded on Tuesday 21 February 2023.

Road Incident Management Systems (RIMS) was established with the intention to create a comprehensive and coordinated stakeholders' operational policy for the implementation, recourse, and management of all road incidents. In 1991, the National Department of Transport initiated RIMS on several national routes within SA. Since then, RIMS has been successfully implemented across South Africa, covering more than 21,000 kilometres of declared national road networks as well as a number of provincial and metropolitan routes. A significant number of resources have been allocated to develop and reconstruct South Africa's road networks.

The ever-increasing traffic volumes, high accident rates, congestion, and the negative impact of incidents on the road systems, has necessitated the development and implementation of a road incident management framework to restore normal capacity and safety levels to all affected road facilities as quickly and efficiently as possible. RIMS role players are trained and measuring tools are implemented in order for role players to adhere to road safety expectations. For this reason, protocols are followed by means of post incident assessments and simulations.

North West road incident responders and role players were awarded for their diligent adherence to protocols and excellent service, where the Bojanala-district scooped five of the six awards!

The six awards

- Best contributing chairperson
- Best first responder
- Best joint incident command post
- Best implementing district
- Best planned incident simulation
- Best RIMS role player reviving and participating district awarded to Dr Kenneth Kaunda District

Bojanala's best

Department of Community Safety and Transport Management control provincial inspector Johan Esterhuizen was awarded for best contributing chairperson, best implementing district and best incident simulation.

ER24, general manager Marchant Jacobs was awarded for best first responder, and Trauma Rescue's industrial operations manager Rayno Dempers was awarded for best joint incident command post.

Nag ou grote...

Platinum Raceway racers Altaaf Tayob and Mohamed Yacoob were ready to race.

Rustenburg – The best of the best competed at the Platinum Raceway at the 1660 Mashup on Saturday 4 March 2023.

The adrenalin ran high on and off the track as stockrods, rookies, 1660's, 2.1 litres, hotrods, V8 flexis, and midgets raced it out and kept spectators at the edge of their seats! Racers came from as far as Newcastle, Kroonstad, Randfontein, Port Elizabeth, Lephalale, Bloemfontein, and Kathu to participate. Between the dust, the loud engines, and fast cars, it certainly was a day to remember for racing enthusiasts.

Juan Prinsloo, one of our local racers at Platinum Raceway.
