HIGH-TECH CAR THIEVES
Police Say It's Not New —
But Many Motorists Don't Know

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – A recent vehicle theft has drawn fresh attention to criminals using advanced signal-interference technology to unlock and steal cars within minutes. The affected owner says his vehicle was targeted after being followed by another car, and that the suspects used a device hidden in a laptop bag to intercept the locking signal. According to the owner, the thieves simply relayed that intercepted signal to an accomplice, who unlocked the vehicle with ease before driving it away. A tracking attempt briefly led to a secondary location before the signal disappeared, likely after the suspects removed a cell phone left inside. The vehicle has not been recovered. The owner also reported being told that several similar thefts occurred recently. He now wants other motorists to be aware of the technique. SAPS spokesperson colonel Adéle Myburgh warned that the method is already familiar to investigators. "This is not a new trend. It has been happening for quite some time — criminals are simply using newer, more advanced technology," she said. Netstar responded through Mehluli Dube of Technical Services: "Vehicle theft syndicates do make use of advanced methods, including signal interception, jamming, and key relay techniques." Dube added that signal-related theft is commonly used in high-risk areas and busy parking sites, often involving groups of criminals who follow a targeted vehicle. He noted that jamming of locking signals is widespread, advising motorists to physically check that their doors have locked before walking away. Netstar said stolen vehicles are typically moved to a secondary spot where tracking units are located and disabled. What motorists should remember

- Always check manually that your vehicle is locked.
- Be alert if you suspect you're being followed into a parking area.
- Report any suspicious behaviour or failed locking attempts immediately.

Long arm of the law nabs runaway robbery pair

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg — Two suspects believed to be involved in a string of business and house robberies across the North West were arrested on Thursday, 4 December 2025, following coordinated police operations involving units in Zeerust, Phokeng and Rustenburg. The arrests come after several incidents reported in Zeerust, Madike, Boitekong and Rustenburg earlier this year, including a break-in at Autumn Leave Mall in Zeerust. According to police spokesperson lieutenant colonel Sam Tselanyane, four suspects allegedly gained forced entry into the mall in the early hours of Thursday morning and broke into two shops, stealing numerous cellular phones. Security personnel attempted to intervene but were unable to stop the suspects, who fled in a white Suzuki.

Police later tracked the vehicle to East End in Rustenburg. Two individuals — a 33-year-old Malawian man and his 29-year-old Mozambican girlfriend — were arrested at the location. A search of their rented room uncovered suspected stolen goods, including cellular phones, explosives, household items, bedding and a television set. The vehicle believed to have been used during the crimes was also seized. The pair appeared in the Rustenburg Magistrate's Court on Monday, 8 December 2025, facing charges relating to possession of suspected stolen goods and possession of explosives, as well as charges under section 49 of the Immigration Act. Police say further charges may be added as investigations continue, and they are looking into possible links to other cases.

CPF warns of hijacking spike on R510 and surrounding routes

The R510 near Ben Marais Hall, an area drawing increased attention amid reports of suspected hijacking attempts.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – As residents gear up for the busy festive season, growing fears about alleged hijackings on the R510 near Rustenburg have placed motorists on edge — despite police stating they have no confirmed incidents on record.

Brigadier Sabata Mokgwabone has called for caution and accuracy, stressing that police cannot verify any of the alleged hijacking reports. “These allegations are circulating, yet we have no confirmed cases on record. We urge anyone with information to report it to the police, as unsubstantiated claims can create unnecessary fear in the community,” he said.

But on the ground, community structures say they are seeing a worrying trend. Community Policing Forum (CPF) EXCO chairperson Marcus Haasbroek has expressed deep concern over what he describes as a sharp rise in hijackings along the R510 in recent months.

Haasbroek says criminals are exploiting the road’s environmental weaknesses — poor visibility, inadequate lighting, thick vegetation, and high traffic volumes from Rustenburg’s CBD to the Boitekong and Sunrise Park areas. “The vehicle hijackings taking place on the R510 have significantly increased. The criminals are using the environmental design to their advantage due to the lack of police visibility, lighting and vegetation control... We urge the community to be alert and not pick up strangers. If you feel you’re being targeted, drive to the nearest police station — not a garage — as criminals take advantage of the chaos.” He further recommends motorists travel in groups when possible, and called on SANRAL to help address the issue by installing an ANPR (Automatic Number Plate Recognition) CCTV system along the route.

Province-wide warning: hijackers targeting major routes

Beyond Rustenburg, a broader alert has been issued for motorists travelling across the N14, N4, R510, R503, R53 and R52 in the North West Province.

Recent incidents reported between Ventersdorp, Coligny, Lichtenburg, Koster and Rustenburg suggest that hijackers are using varied tactics, including:

- Pretending to be stranded motorists
- Posing as officials
- Following vehicles until drivers stop in isolated areas

Authorities caution that drivers should treat any suspicious situation with extreme care.

How to stay safe: hijacking prevention tips

- Stay alert and aware of your surroundings
- If you feel unsafe, drive straight to a police station
- Avoid stopping in dark or isolated areas
- Watch for suspicious vehicles following you
- Lock your doors, close windows, hide valuables
- Do not use your phone while driving
- Time traffic lights at night to reduce stopping
- Leave space between vehicles to allow an escape route
- Avoid driving alone late at night
- Never pick up strangers
- Vary your daily routes
- If bumped from behind, drive to a public place or police station before stopping

Helen Joseph Bridge

OPENS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Sign of the times:
Crews remove the
"N4 Crossing Closed"
board as the bridge
returns to service.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – In what many residents are calling a welcome surprise, the Helen Joseph interchange bridge has reopened far earlier than expected – officially on 9 December 2025 – easing one of the city's most persistent traffic bottlenecks.

The bridge, originally scheduled to remain closed until 30 July 2026, became a daily source of frustration for thousands of commuters, but the construction teams exceeded even the most optimistic predictions. Local resident Horick Demister was among the first to walk across the newly restored structure. He said that the rapid progress made it "feel like a new pair of shoes." The rapid turnaround was led by Raubex Group Limited, the construction and engineering company responsible for the project. Site manager Bernard Vos explained that the team felt a strong responsibility to act quickly because of the bridge's importance to Rustenburg's infrastructure. He noted that the closure had a significant impact on the daily lives and economic activity of residents and commuters, and that this awareness drove the company to allocate additional resources to speed up the work. Vos praised the collective effort behind the scenes, describing the project's success as a testament to exceptional teamwork, careful planning, and unwavering dedication from engineers, contractors, and on-site workers. Although the task was far from easy, the team ensured the bridge was restored both swiftly and to the highest standard of quality. Bakwena's PR Manager, Charmaine van Wyk, confirmed that the bridge is now open to the public. She added that while a few finishing touches will continue into early next year, these remaining tasks will not affect the safe use of the bridge. She expressed appreciation for the community's patience and support throughout the process. With the Helen Joseph bridge back in service, traffic in and around Rustenburg is expected to improve significantly, particularly for residents of Protea Park, Safarituine, Azalea Park and nearby areas. Combined with the earlier-than-scheduled reopening of the Kruger Street bridge, the city is finally seeing the benefits of the ongoing N4 upgrade, after months of congestion and uncertainty. The restored bridge is more than a structural milestone; it represents relief, reconnection, and renewed momentum for Rustenburg's commuters.

EMPOWERING YOUNG MINDS

Go matlafatsa megopolo ya bašwa

Sibanye-Stillwater Protection Services recently participated in Marikana Combined School's Career Dress-Up Day. Learners had the opportunity to explore our state-of-the-art protection services technology and gain valuable insight into the critical role security plays in mining operations.

The visit served to not only highlight modern safety and security innovations in mining, but also encouraged learners to consider future career paths in the protection services and security sector.

This initiative reflects Sibanye-Stillwater's commitment to empowering young people through education and skills awareness.

Supporting safer communities

Sibanye-Stillwater recently installed and handed over four 30-metre LED high mast lights at Dinnie Estate, Rustenburg.

We also partnered with the Sibanye Rustenburg Mine Community Development Trust (SRMCDT), to install and deliver an additional seven high mast lights to the Ikemeleng community, Kroondal. The Dinnie Estate project alone created six local jobs and cost over R2.4 million. Lighting is often seen as not just a convenience, but a powerful deterrent to crime and a foundation for safer neighbourhoods, especially in more sparsely populated areas.

These initiatives will improve safety, visibility, and overall community well-being, especially during night-time. It will also promote stronger collaboration between Sibanye-Stillwater, the municipality, and our host communities.

The project forms part of Sibanye-Stillwater's ongoing commitment to uplift and support communities through sustainable infrastructure development.

Officials present at the handover of newly installed high mast lights included the Rustenburg Executive Mayor, Sheila Mabale-Huma, representatives from the Rustenburg Local Municipality, community leaders, the Sub-District Manager, and the Department of Mineral and Petroleum Resources

SCANIA drives youth development

SCANIA e rotloetsa go tshabololwa ga bašwa

Erik Bergvall, Managing Director of Scania SA, joined by delegates from Scania and Sibanye-Stillwater for a walkabout at the Marikana Youth Centre

Scania, one of Sibanye-Stillwater's suppliers has partnered with the company in a programme run by Afrika Tikkun to improve education and employability in the Marikana area.

The centre has become a beacon of hope and opportunity for the youth of the Marikana community. It provides educational support, skills development, and social upliftment through targeted programmes in digital literacy, technological training, and personal development. It also offers an after-school programme, which provides tutoring in math and science to hundreds, and also helps post-matric learners to access further education and prepare for the job market. It has also held initiatives aimed at gender-based violence awareness and youth engagement, providing safe spaces for the community.

The visit saw Scania commit to further enhance the partnership through the introduction of a technical focussed programme, which will be expanded into learnerships as part of their sustainable people strategy.

There remains great optimism that the centre will continue to grow its impact, nurturing future leaders and driving meaningful change in the community for years to come.

Enhancing healthcare access for all

Go oketsa phitlhelelo ya kalafi/boitekanelo go botlhe

Sibanye-Stillwater, in partnership with Umsizi, recently hosted a successful Health and Wellness Community Outreach programme at the Modderspruit Community Hall in Bapong and the Pentecostal Holiness Church in Tlhabane respectively. The programme included insightful lectures from healthcare partners and the department of health, covering topics including the importance of self-care, glaucoma awareness, eye testing benefits, and mental health support. Community members were also able to access a wide range of healthcare services including wellness checks, mental health assessments, cancer screenings (cervical, breast and prostate), and eye tests, with 253 individuals participating in the Bapong area and a further 225 in Tlhabane.

This initiative forms part of Sibanye-Stillwater's Employee Volunteerism Scheme Programme, which promotes health and wellness, and fosters inclusivity within our communities. Renovating Tlhabane Community Health Centre Sibanye-Stillwater recently renovated and handed over the Tlhabane Community Health Centre, Rustenburg, at a cost of over R660 thousand. The renovations included plumbing repairs, the construction of new ablution facilities, installation of vinyl flooring and porcelain tiles and new doors and locksets. The project created eight jobs and was conducted in partnership with the Department of Mineral and Petroleum Resources and the North West Province's Department of Health.

This will improve healthcare access for the community, decrease waiting times, and also help to enhance community health and hygiene. It will also contribute to strengthening the currently strained public healthcare system in South Africa.

Officials present at the handover included representatives from the Rustenburg Local Municipality, community leaders, and our valued partners from the Department of Health, the Sub-District Manager, and the Department of Mineral and Petroleum Resources. Sibanye-Stillwater believes in partnerships with government and like-minded businesses to empower communities, through improving infrastructure and access.

Protecting nature through owl conservation

Sibanye-Stillwater recently signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Owl Rescue Centre to transform the game farm into a dedicated owl conservation site. The initiative will create a safe environment for owls, support ecological balance, and promote education and conservation programmes.

The partnership reinforces the company's commitment to biodiversity, habitat conservation, and supporting sustainable ecosystems within its operations and surrounding communities. It aligns with our environmental strategy, which prioritises habitat rehabilitation, species preservation, and reducing our ecological footprint.

Go tokafatsa polasi ya diruiwa

Livestock farmers from Bojanala District and Lepelle Nkumpi Local Municipality during training facilitated by Sibanye-Stillwater and the University of Pretoria

Sibanye-Stillwater and the University of Pretoria's Faculty of Veterinary Science, recently embarked on a small-scale livestock farmer skills development strategic partnership. The primary objective of this initiative is to educate farmers on Primary Animal HealthCare, improve livestock disease risk management, train and capacitate small-scale livestock farmers, and increase productivity to ensure local economic development and community empowerment.

As part of the initiative, ninety livestock farmers were trained from the Bojanala District Municipality and thirty from the Lepelle Nkumpi Local Municipality. Three modules covering early disease identification, treatment and prevention, production and seasonal planning, and livestock marketing and sales were delivered. Participants are now equipped to apply basic data-driven livestock production management practices to enhance livestock productivity, reduce production losses and improve disease surveillance and reporting, ensuring job creation and farm sustainability.

Sibanye-Stillwater remains committed to investing in efforts aimed at increasing agricultural knowledge as a means of enhancing capacity and sustainability. We believe that communities should be exposed to the business aspects of farming and livestock value chains, since improved livestock productivity will ensure the development of thriving and sustainable local economies.

Planting trees, supporting sustainability

Go jala ditlhare, go tshegetsatsa tshomarelo ya dilo

In September, Sibanye-Stillwater hosted a successful Arbor Month tree-planting campaign at the Reedville Clinic, which is in the vicinity of our PMR operations.

This formed part of Sibanye-Stillwater's support for the plant "A Million Trees" campaign, under the collective theme "My tree, My Oxygen, Plant yours Today," which saw a million trees planted in September and aims to plant 10 million by 2026. Sibanye-Stillwater, together with government and civil society planted 170 trees across our operations, at schools, clinics and community centres as part of this initiative.

MMC for Community Services Councillor Bridget Thusi delivered a brief message on the importance of trees, highlighting their benefits for the environment and our health. She encouraged attendees to extend this initiative into their homes by planting trees to help build a greener community.

Attendees included the clinic's Divisional Head of Primary Health Care, Angie Ndhambi, Acting HOD Dr Jerry Chaka, the MMC of Community Services Cllr Bridget Thusi and senior managers from the Department of Health as well as fellow patients and community members.

BE AWARE OF FLASH FLOODS AND RESPECT DAMS

DID YOU KNOW?

- Flash floods are sudden and unpredictable, making them one of the most dangerous natural disasters
- These floods can develop within minutes or hours from heavy rain or dam failures, making them extremely dangerous
- Fast-moving water can sweep away vehicles, damage landscapes, and cause fatalities, especially in areas with poor drainage

Remember:

- Strong currents can pull you off your feet, even in shallow water
- Flash floods can happen without warning, even when rainfall is not heavy
- Tailings dams and mine shafts are not areas to swim in
- The fences around the tailings facilities should not be damaged or broken to avoid harm to people and livestock
- Swimming is not allowed as this may result in drowning or diseases

Choose carefully:

- Avoid water-covered roads, especially at night
- Do not walk or swim near dams or areas that are fenced and have "danger" and "No Entry" signs
- Do not allow children to play in or around flowing water

If someone is in trouble:

NALEDI SHINES ON NATIONAL STAGES

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg
– Our city, Rustenburg continues to produce exceptional talent, and this year, one of its brightest daughters has made the entire province proud. Naledi Ramaboea, from Rustenburg, is making national waves both in modelling and community development.

In November 2025, Naledi walked away with two national modelling honours — Top Model of the Year at the Supreme Industry Awards and Star Model of the Year at the South African Star Awards, both held in Gauteng. These awards recognised her excellence, consistency, and the impact of her work beyond the runway. She is also the current Mrs Township South Africa Exclusive 1st Runner-Up 2025, a title she earned on 7 December 2024. Her reign continues until 2026.

A Rustenburg heart anchored in purpose
Naledi’s achievements extend far beyond titles. She is the founder of Alina Motene’s Princess and Queen Project, a Rustenburg-rooted initiative named in honour of her late grandmother. Established in 2018, the project focuses on restoring dignity for the girl child by supplying reusable sanitary pads to girls in disadvantaged communities — a crucial need in many parts of North West. The foundation also leads:

- The Dress a Princess Campaign, uplifting young women overcoming hardship
- Matric Dance Giveaways, offering support to girls unable to afford their special night

“Everything we do is rooted in dignity, empowerment and hope,” Naledi shares. Her work touches lives across Rustenburg and surrounding communities.

A dream born in local school halls
Like many local children, Naledi’s journey began in a Bonwagogo Primary School classroom. She first entered a pageant in Grade 1, sparking a passion that would follow her through life. Though she didn’t win that early competition, the dream stayed alive. As the industry evolved, opportunities emerged that blended beauty with purpose — a perfect match for Naledi’s values. In 2018, she entered her first adult pageant, choosing platforms that prioritised community service. “Modelling is my passion, but giving back and leaving a legacy is my purpose,” she says.

Words for Rustenburg women entering the industry
Naledi encourages local women to step forward boldly: “Pageants and awards are open to anyone who is passionate and meets the requirements. In my case, Rustenburg nominated me — the same community that witnessed my work. If you are genuine, respectful and consistent, people will carry you on their shoulders.”

Her message to women everywhere: “Never give up on your dreams. Don’t let your light dim. Believe in yourself, ask God to guide you, and trust His timing.”

What keeps her going
For Naledi, motivation comes from the impact she sees in the lives she touches. “Giving hope where there was none, seeing smiles, and knowing I’ve left footprints of kindness — that is what carries me through tough times.”

Balancing mining and modelling
A proud Rustenburg professional, Naledi also works full-time as a strata control officer in the mining industry — a field synonymous with the North West. Balancing long shifts that sometimes start as early as 4 AM with her modelling commitments is not easy. “It takes sacrifice, sleepless nights and discipline,” she admits. But her passion fuels her, and she remains committed to both her career and calling.

Naledi’s greatest joy is her 3-year-old son, who inspires her to work even harder and leave a legacy of purpose.

Rustenburg’s beacon of beauty and service
From the mining shafts to national runways, from township communities to award stages, Naledi Ramaboea represents Rustenburg with pride, strength and excellence.

Her story is a reminder to the women of our city and province that greatness can grow from right here at home — and that purpose-driven work can touch lives far beyond our borders.

FROM VELD TO VICTORY

How OWM turns hard work into hope

The OWM family — volunteers, councillors, and EPWP members united for cleaner wards. Thank you!

Platinum Weekly Newspaper | Rustenburg – While many slowed down for the festive season, Our Ward Matters (OWM) accelerated its efforts, delivering impactful clean-ups across Wards 16 and 17. Led by André van Dyk, with Cllr Tanya Rothman, the EPWP team, and committed volunteers, OWM once again proved that real community change is built through consistency, care, and boots on the ground.

3 December:
The team transformed Tamarisk Avenue (Ward 16), clearing rubbish, cutting grass, and debushing until the area resembled a park. Clean-ups continued through Wildevy, Moepel, and Kruger Street before moving to Azaleapark/ Selly Park (Ward 17), where grass-cutting and rubbish removal restored several neighbourhood corners. Community donations kept fuel in the tanks and spirits high.

4 December:
In Dachill, OWM cut grass, cleared illegal dumping on the mountain side, and cleaned roadways from Protea Avenue down to Cuckoo Avenue. Residents offered donations and cooldrinks — small acts of kindness that kept a tired team inspired.

5 December:
A heartfelt tribute was shared to the early supporters who believed in OWM when it was only an idea. Pastor Doug and Liza Morkel of GrowthPoint Church were especially thanked for standing with the team from the very beginning.

10 December:
In Ward 16, OWM cleared dumping sites near the Rustenburg Recreation Centre, cut long grass along Geelhout and Wildevy, and improved traffic visibility at Helen Joseph and Mispel. Joined by Cllr Jean Keyser, Cllr Tanya Rothman and activist Michael Rothman, the team restored safety and natural beauty to the area.

A Message of Gratitude

[letter from André van Dyk]

As this year draws to a close, I want to express my deepest gratitude to everyone who has walked this journey with me and helped shape the success of Our Ward Matters.

To Cllr Tanya Rothman — thank you for standing beside me from the very beginning. Your leadership, support, and willingness to take hands with OWM have made some of our biggest projects possible. From the massive clean-ups in the Rivers area and across Ward 17, to Pendoring “spruitjie,” Cycad, Santolina, and our ongoing work around water canals and illegal dumping hotspots — your commitment has helped us transform entire neighbourhoods. OWM’s major pothole project in Ward 17, along with your constant support for our team in Ward 16, has made a remarkable impact.

To Cllr Jean Keyser — thank you for your guidance, teamwork, and the important role you played in the projects we tackled together. Your involvement in addressing community concerns, especially around safety and illegal squatters, has strengthened our ability to protect and uplift both Wards 16 and 17. Your support in confronting illegal dumping, and the awareness videos we created together, have truly made a difference.

To Michael Rothman — thank you for your dedication, your willingness to learn and lead, and for always stepping in when the team needs you. Your steady presence means more than you know.

To every resident of Ward 16 and Ward 17 who donates, supports, encourages, or simply believes in our work — you are the reason this is possible. Whether you contribute petrol, bags, PPE, brushcutter repairs, food, cooldrinks, or financial support, every donation becomes action. You are part of every clean-up, every restored space, every safer street.

Thank you to the RLM Waste Department for your ongoing support: collecting refuse bags, providing skips, and working hand-in-hand with us. This partnership shows what is possible when community and municipality unite — a cleaner, safer, stronger Rustenburg for all.

I am truly humbled and grateful.

Together, we have proven that one act of service at a time can change a street, uplift a ward, and inspire a city. Here’s to even greater things in 2026!

SMALL HOPPERS, BIG JOB Hartbeespoort Turns to Nature for Relief

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Hartbeespoort Dam is once again feeling the pressure of a fierce surge of water hyacinth, with coverage estimated at 40–45% in the week of 4 November 2025. What many residents see as a sudden crisis is, in reality, the result of a complex environmental cycle decades in the making.

According to prof. Julie Coetzee, deputy director of the Centre for Biological Control (CBC) at Rhodes University and principal scientist at the NRF South African Institute for Aquatic Biodiversity, the dramatic green spread is no surprise.

“It looks overwhelming, but there is no quick fix,” prof. Coetzee explains. “Peak summer growth, exposed old seed banks, and nutrient-rich runoff have all aligned to fuel rapid expansion. But we are responding — and the long-term strategy is working.”

Biological control: nature’s slow but powerful solution
Since August, the CBC has intensified its biological control programme built on a tiny but highly effective ally: Megamelus scutellaris, commonly known as the water hyacinth planthopper. These insects stress the plants, prevent flowering, and — crucially — stop new seeds from forming. Over time, this depletes the dam’s 50-year-old seed bank, the true driver of seasonal hyacinth explosions. “Since 2019, these insects have kept summer hyacinth levels below 5%,” says Prof. Coetzee. “The challenge isn’t failed biocontrol — it’s the massive seed germination that happens every spring. Each year we prevent flowering, the seed bank shrinks. That is long-term success.”

More than 100,000 insects have already been released, with 20,000 more added each week, supported by community-run rearing stations.

A dam under pressure
Magalies Water and contractors are removing up to 500 tonnes of hyacinth per day, using harvesters, excavators, and manual crews working 22-hour days. But progress is often slowed by: shallow and inaccessible shorelines, vandalised containment booms, safety restrictions at the dam wall, and rapid plant regrowth during peak season. Despite these challenges, an expanded fleet — including additional excavators and harvesters — is being deployed this month.

The work on the water
Prof. Coetzee emphasises that biological control must work hand-in-hand with harvesting and nutrient reduction. “Integrated management is the only path to lasting control,” she says. “Biocontrol weakens growth, harvesting removes mass, and reducing upstream pollution tackles the root cause.”

What About Spraying? Hippos? Commercial Harvesting?
Some community suggestions appear every year — but science and safety tell a different story.

- Herbicides cause dangerous blue-green algal blooms and trigger mass flowering, adding millions more seeds.
- Hippos were tried historically and nearly starved — hyacinth offers almost no nutrition and poses human-safety risks.
- Commercial harvesting is helpful but cannot keep up with peak seasonal growth.

“If spraying worked, we’d use it,” prof. Coetzee says plainly. “We need solutions that don’t make next year’s problem worse.”

Safety First: NSRI Warns Boaters
The NSRI has issued a strong advisory urging boaters to reconsider launching onto the dam, warning of unpredictable drifting hyacinth mats, engine damage, entanglement hazards, and limited rescue options. “Every rescue in these conditions is dangerous,” says Arthur Crewe, NSRI station commander. Boaters who still choose to launch are urged to check wind forecasts, monitor hyacinth movement, and log trips on the SafeTRX app.

What residents can expect — and when
The CBC and Magalies Water aim to achieve 95% open water by March 2026. “Community anger is justified,” says prof. Coetzee. “But giving up will doom the dam. We’re asking for 12 months of sustained support so the science can do its job.”

The bottom line
This is not a failure — it is a long-term recovery from a 50-year problem. The insects are working. The harvesters are working. The system is responding. But the dam will only heal through persistence, partnership, and patience. For now, on Hartbeespoort’s waters, the tiniest workers may be the most important ones of all.

SOULFOOD

MATTHEW 1:18-25

¹⁸ Now the birth of Jesus Christ was as follows: After His mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Spirit. ¹⁹ Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not wanting to make her a public example, was minded to put her away secretly. ²⁰ But while he thought about these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, “Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take to you Mary your wife, for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit. ²¹ And she will bring forth a Son, and you shall call His name Jesus, for He will save His people from their sins.”

²² So all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying: ²³ “Behold, the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His name Immanuel,” which is translated, “God with us.”

²⁴ Then Joseph, being aroused from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord commanded him and took to him his wife, ²⁵ and did not know her till she had brought forth her firstborn Son. And he called His name Jesus.

Rustenburg shines brighter together

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg — This year's Silwerend Schools Light Festival didn't just glow... it blazed with community spirit, joy, and heart. Over five dazzling nights, from 2 to 6 December 2025, thousands stepped into a wonder-world of colour, characters and Christmas cheer — all for a cause that will leave a lasting impact far beyond the festival grounds.

The event burst to life on opening night as families wandered through glowing tunnels, paused for photo ops with storybook royalty, and warmed their hands (and hearts) beside crackling bonfires. "The atmosphere was absolutely magical!" shared festival-goer Madith Sebatana, attending with her granddaughter Barbara van Rooyen. "Events like these truly bring our community together."

And that spirit of togetherness became the festival's greatest triumph. Silwerend Schools' school director Charlene Schoeman reflected on the week with gratitude: "It was a massive success. I am very grateful that we could help the children's home. They let me know that they will be able to get through December 2025 now with enough food. We lost a bit on the first night because of the rain but all in all, it was really fabulous to see the entire Rustenburg community together." She added a heartfelt message: "Thank you, Rustenburg, for supporting us."

The festival's unique entry fee — R20 plus a non-perishable food item — transformed a joyful outing into meaningful charity. Every can, packet and donation contributed directly to Rustenburg Child and Family Welfare.

Along with its purpose, the Light Festival dazzled with creativity: glowing fairy-tale figures, LED-covered vehicles, massive, illuminated structures, and carefully crafted scenes brought an extra sparkle to the Silwerend Schools grounds. Teachers spent weeks preparing, and their dedication shone through every magical detail.

This year, Rustenburg didn't just attend a festival. It built one glowing, generous, unforgettable moment — together.

A Global Triumph for Lebone II College

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – Lebone II College is celebrating a remarkable international achievement after Grade 8 student Onalenna Ramorula brought home not one, but two prestigious titles from an international pageant held in Brazil. Onalenna was crowned Miss Pre-Teen Nations and Miss Pre-Teen Princess of the Sea International 2025.

With another global competition set to take place in Turkey soon, Onalenna remains focused, grounded, and deeply passionate about the purpose behind her pageant journey.

When asked what first drew her into the world of pageantry, Onalenna spoke with maturity beyond her years. "I joined pageantry because I wanted to express myself confidently and inspire other young girls to believe in their dreams," she shared. "Pageantry gave me a platform to grow, learn, and show that age doesn't limit your purpose."

Her love for modelling, leadership, and helping others made pageantry a natural fit — a place where all her passions intersect.

Onalenna's determination didn't stop after her first international win. "Winning my first crown showed me what I'm capable of," she said. "Instead of stopping, it motivated me to push harder, improve myself, and prove that focus can take you even further." While the first title was an exhilarating dream realised, the second represented progress — a deeper understanding of who she is and what she stands for. "My second title felt like growth. I was more confident and more aware of my purpose."

Despite her rapid rise, Onalenna remains humble. "I stay humble by remembering where I come from, appreciating everyone who supports me, and understanding that the crown is not just about me — it's about representing others."

As the date for her next international competition in Turkey awaits confirmation, one thing is clear: Onalenna Ramorula is not just collecting crowns — she's building a legacy of confidence, purpose, and empowerment.

FOOD LOVER'S MARKET

SMILES ALL AROUND

When we say, "Make it a Food Lover's Christmas", these aren't just cute words. It means sharing the joy of food with the people you love. And if we can help you create some smiles around your festive table, then consider it done. With that said, feast your eyes on this pavlova that's the perfect combination of sweet and fresh.

Fresh is best!

Use a mix of berries, cherries and stone fruit for a festive burst of colour and flavour.

Keep toppings light.

Heavy toppings crush the shell. Pile fruit high but use whipped cream, chocolate sauce or a berry coulis.

GIVE YOUR LOVED ONES MORE THIS CHRISTMAS

Get creative.

Drizzle with berry coulis or melted white chocolate for a decadent finish.

AT FOOD LOVER'S MARKET, CHERRIES ARE A BIG DEAL

And we're not just talking about the fact that our cherry prices are the best by far. If you really want to Make it a Food Lover's Christmas, then a handful of cherries is just what you need!
