Aloe peglerae

Vanishing from our mountains

Young learners at Kgaswane Nature Reserve rolled up their sleeves, making a real and lasting impact on conservation efforts.

WHEN THE LIGHTS GO OUT...

Are we now expected to protect our own power?

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – Power outages in Rustenburg are no longer just about ageing infrastructure... vandalism is taking centre stage. Repeated copper theft and targeted attacks on substations are leaving businesses and residents in the dark.

For struggling SMMEs, the impact is devastating. As the situation worsens, a critical question emerges: who is responsible for protecting essential infrastructure?

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – A plant found almost nowhere else on Earth is quietly disappearing — right here in our own mountains. The Aloe peglerae, largely restricted to the Magaliesberg region, has already declined by 43% in just 10 years, with fears of far greater losses ahead. Its biggest threat? Illegal removal from the wild. But there is hope. At Kgaswane

Nature Reserve, young learners, students and conservationists are stepping in – quite literally – replanting this critically endangered species back into its natural habitat. Did you know? Protecting it here means protecting it globally.

SHOT IN HIS OWN HOME

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – Swift police action has led to the arrest of two suspects linked to a violent house robbery and attempted murder in Serutube, Phokeng, while a third suspect remains at large. According to North West police spokesperson captain Majang Skalkie, the incident occurred on Friday 10 April 2026 at approximately 19:45. Three unknown men, wearing gloves and balaclavas, allegedly forced their way into a residence where two victims were inside at the time. One of the suspects, reportedly armed with a firearm, allegedly shot one of the victims in the hip before the suspects robbed the occupants of personal belongings, including a cellphone, a Samsung television, and cash. Following a coordinated police response, supported by community members and rapid investigative work, two male suspects were apprehended on the same evening. Police also recovered the firearm believed to have been used in the attack, along with a cellphone belonging to one of the victims. In a separate development, one of the suspects, aged 35, was allegedly assaulted by members of the community. He was taken to hospital for treatment but later succumbed to his injuries on Tuesday, 14 April 2026. Police have since launched an investigation into the circumstances surrounding his death. The second suspect, Phillemon Ngwenya (23), appeared before the Phokeng Magistrates' Court on Monday 13 April 2026, facing charges of house robbery and attempted murder. He remains in custody and is expected to appear in court again on Tuesday 26 May 2026. Meanwhile, police have intensified efforts to locate the third suspect who managed to evade arrest. Acting North West provincial commissioner, major general (Dr) Ryno Nadiou, commended the officers and detectives involved for their swift response and dedication. He also urged community members not to take the law into their own hands. Anyone with information that could assist in the arrest of the outstanding suspect is urged to contact investigating officer detective constable Letlhaku Leseyane on 067 615 2111 or the Crime Stop number on 08600 10111. All information will be treated confidentially.

Rustenburg's new Ikateleng centre OPENS PATHWAYS TO MINING AND ENGINEERING CAREERS

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – A sense of excitement and purpose filled the air on Saturday morning, 7 March 2026, as learners, parents and educators gathered at HF Tlou Secondary School in Tlhabane. What seemed like a busy school day quickly revealed itself to be something far more meaningful – the beginning of new futures.

The North-West University (NWU) officially launched its newest Ikateleng centre, marking a major step in strengthening education pathways in the Bojanala Platinum District. The centre, hosted at HF Tlou Secondary School, becomes the second of its kind in the region, alongside the existing facility in Mooinooi.

The Ikateleng programme – a long-standing community initiative running for nearly four decades – focuses on improving Mathematics and Science education in rural and township schools. Through extra classes, mentorship and academic support, the programme equips learners with the tools needed to access higher education opportunities. "Ikateleng," a Setswana word meaning "empower yourself," perfectly captures the spirit of the initiative.

On the day of the launch, 220 Grade 10 to 12 learners, identified in partnership with the Department of Education, registered for the programme. Over the course of 21 Saturdays this year, they will return to sharpen their skills in critical STEM subjects (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics).

But the vision goes far beyond improved marks. The initiative forms part of a broader strategy by NWU to develop a strong pipeline of future professionals for the mining and engineering sectors. Plans are already underway to establish a School of Mines and Mining Engineering in the Rustenburg region, a move that aligns directly with the area's position at the heart of South Africa's platinum belt.

This future-focused institution will concentrate on critical minerals, smart mining technologies and sustainable practices, while strengthening collaboration with industry and research partners. Importantly, it aims to produce graduates who are not only skilled, but also ready to lead innovation in a rapidly evolving sector.

The Ikateleng centres in Rustenburg and Mooinooi are key building blocks in this vision. By supporting local learners early on, the programme ensures that more young people from mining communities meet the academic requirements needed to pursue careers in engineering and mining. Jean-Marc Stidworthy, director of marketing and student recruitment at NWU, captured the significance of the moment: "Today we are not simply opening a centre – we are opening a pathway of opportunity. Real success will depend on learners who commit, teachers who guide, parents who support, and communities who take ownership."

With initiatives like Ikateleng gaining momentum, Rustenburg's young people are not just dreaming about the future of mining and engineering – they are actively preparing to lead it.

WHEN THE LIGHTS GO OUT...

Are we now expected to protect our own power?

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – While power outages in and around Rustenburg are often blamed on ageing infrastructure and delays in repairs, there is a growing and far more troubling reality that cannot be ignored: deliberate vandalism of critical electrical infrastructure.

Yes, the system is under pressure. Yes, there are backlogs, shortages of materials, and ageing networks that struggle to keep up. But increasingly, residents and businesses are being left in the dark not because something broke – but because something was stolen.

Substations, cables, and key components are being targeted, stripped, and damaged – often repeatedly. What makes this even more concerning is that these are not isolated incidents. The scale and coordination point towards organised criminal activity.

This is not new. In previous years, substations along the N4 towards Brits were vandalised so severely and so frequently that armed security had to be deployed. In some cases, criminals reportedly returned to the same sites multiple times – even carrying firearms.

The impact goes far beyond inconvenience. For residents, it means days without power. For businesses, especially small and medium enterprises (SMMEs), it is something far more serious. In a town already battling unreliable water supply, deteriorating roads, and rising operational costs, electricity is not a luxury – it is the backbone of survival. Every outage means lost income. Spoiled stock. Halted production. Employees sent home. Customers turned away. And yet, businesses are still expected to meet their obligations – rent, salaries, and taxes – even when they are unable to operate.

The continued vandalism of infrastructure is not just a municipal issue – it is an economic threat. It erodes confidence, discourages investment, and places already vulnerable businesses under even greater strain. But perhaps the most uncomfortable question is this: Are we reaching a point where communities and businesses must start protecting essential infrastructure themselves?

South Africa already has one of the largest private security industries in the world – a reality shaped by necessity. Across the country, private security is increasingly stepping in where public systems are stretched. In some areas, communities are already funding additional protection – for neighbourhoods, for businesses, even for basic services.

But what does it mean if that responsibility begins to extend to something as critical as electricity infrastructure?

And with every outage, the question grows louder: Who is responsible for keeping the lights on – and at what cost?

Vanishing from our mountains

Aloe peglerae in the Magaliesberg — a critically endangered species now under threat from illegal removal.

Did you know?

- The Aloe peglerae is critically endangered in South Africa.
- SANBI Red List data shows a 43% population decline in just 10 years.
- It could decline by more than 80% in future generations if threats continue.
- The main threat is illegal harvesting for ornamental and private use.

PROTECTING IT HERE MEANS PROTECTING IT GLOBALLY.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg

— A plant found almost nowhere else on Earth is quietly disappearing from the wild — but at the Kgaswane Nature Reserve, efforts are underway to turn the tide.

The Aloe peglerae, a species found only in the quartzite ridges of the North West and Gauteng, is officially classified as critically endangered. According to South Africa's SANBI Red List, its population has already declined by 43% over the past decade, with projections suggesting losses of over 80% in future generations if current trends continue. One of the biggest drivers of this decline is illegal collection. These striking aloes are often removed from the wild for ornamental gardens or private use — a practice that strips entire populations from the mountainside. Unlike common garden plants, Aloe peglerae grows slowly and depends on very specific environmental conditions. Once removed, it does not easily recover, and the surrounding ecosystem — including insects and other species that rely on it — is also affected.

Although it naturally occurs in the Magaliesberg biosphere, including areas around Rustenburg, many local populations have already been severely reduced or completely lost due to this ongoing pressure. In response, learners from Kitsong Schools of the Royal Bafokeng, together with education students from the Akanyang Centre for Teaching (ACT), in February 2026 joined researchers and conservationists in a hands-on restoration initiative at Kgaswane. Working alongside experts — including Dr Cathy Dzerefos — they helped replant Aloe peglerae back into its natural habitat.

In a region where this species exists naturally — and almost nowhere else in the world — its survival depends on local action.

"The Kgaswane Mountain Reserve is the jewel of the North West Province. Seeing a critically endangered plant restored to its natural habitat gives me hope that wisdom and goodness can prevail."

Dr Cathy Dzerefos, Tshwane University of Technology lecturer and researcher

Budget cuts put Rustenburg's RRT future at risk

An RRT (Yarona) bus operating in Rustenburg's CBD, part of a system currently transporting thousands of commuters daily, despite ongoing infrastructure challenges.

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg — The future of the Rustenburg Rapid Transport (RRT) system, once hailed as a transformative step for public transport, now hangs in the balance as proposed national budget cuts threaten to stall or even terminate the project.

The Rustenburg Taxi Negotiations Forum (TNF), representing nine taxi associations involved in the project since 2014, has raised serious concerns following indications that funding from the National Department of Transport may be reduced. According to the TNF, the taxi industry has supported the RRT initiative in good faith for more than a decade, aligning with government's broader vision of integrated public transport systems. Through formal agreements with the Rustenburg Local Municipality, operators restructured routes and even withdrew certain services to accommodate the rollout of the system. Despite ongoing infrastructure challenges, the project has already made a tangible impact. Phases 1A and 1C have been implemented, with Phase 1B currently underway. Yet, Phase 2 remains outstanding — leaving additional operators in limbo as they await their turn to participate.

RRT project phases:

- Phase 1A - Operates Tlhabane Rustenburg CBD corridor
- Phase 1C - Operates Rustenburg CBD and outer CBD area (Waterfall Mall)
- Phase 1B - Operates Boitekong and Meriting to Rustenburg CBD corridor
- Phase 2 - Operates Kanana, Zinniville and part of Phokeng to Rustenburg CBD corridor

Reportedly, the system is already moving an estimated 20,000 passengers daily, even while key infrastructure such as stations remains incomplete. This, the TNF says, proves both the viability of the RRT system and the commitment of the taxi industry to making it work for the benefit of commuters.

The TNF has described the move as a "unilateral approach" that undermines the partnership between government and the taxi industry, and risks destabilising years of progress. Public transport in Rustenburg relies heavily on collaboration between stakeholders, and the taxi industry remains its backbone.

The TNF warns that decisions taken without meaningful engagement could have far-reaching consequences — not only for operators, but also for thousands of daily commuters, including vulnerable and disabled passengers who depend on accessible transport.

FROM CLASSROOMS TO CLEAN STREETS

Our Ward Matters inspires change across Rustenburg

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg
 – From teaching young minds to transforming neighbourhood streets, Our Ward Matters (OWM) continues to turn action into visible change across Wards 15, 16 and 17.

OWM members rolled up their sleeves during a clean-up operation in the Dachill area on Thursday 23 April 2026.

Led by founder André van Dyk, alongside Ward 17 councillor Tanya Rothman, the initiative remains grounded in a simple truth: real change begins when people show up, stay consistent, and lead by example.

Learning to lead from a young age
 On Thursday, 23 April 2026, the OWM team visited Play-Way Learning Centre, where they engaged Grade 3 learners in an interactive and inspiring session titled “Be a Hero for Nature & Your Community.”

Together with EPWP member William Sibanda, Van Dyk encouraged learners to take pride in their environment through simple daily actions like reducing, reusing and recycling. Through demonstrations and hands-on participation, the message was clear: even the smallest actions can make a big difference.

Each learner was challenged with a task – “What can YOU do today to help the Earth?” – with the promise that top participants will be rewarded during a follow-up visit.

The team expressed sincere appreciation to the school, its staff, and vice principal Joey Stewart for the opportunity, as well as for donating refuse bags to support future clean-up efforts.

Rolling up sleeves in Dachill

On the same day, attention shifted to the Dachill area, where Cllr Rothman led clean-up operations starting in Protea Avenue and moving into Dachill Avenue. Teams worked tirelessly to cut overgrown grass, remove illegal dumping, clear debris, and restore open spaces between homes. Using spades and basic tools, they tackled grass encroaching into roads and addressed areas where torn refuse bags had scattered waste.

This marks the second return to the area — a clear sign of OWM's commitment not just to clean, but to maintain and restore spaces over time. While significant progress has been made, work continues as teams push towards Cuckoo Avenue. Residents are encouraged to protect and maintain these improvements, ensuring the effort translates into lasting change. OWM returned to the Dachill area on 28 April.

Caring beyond clean-ups

OWM's impact goes far beyond visible clean-ups. Through its Our Ward Cares initiative, the organisation is also supporting vulnerable families. Following a generous donation from the Care Centre, director Ilse du Preez is currently sorting and preparing items for distribution. Heartfelt thanks were extended to Christel Herbst and Marli du Plessis for their support – a partnership that continues to uplift those in need.

OWM's efforts continue to go beyond clean-ups — identifying risks, engaging authorities, and mobilising community support to address deeper challenges affecting safety and wellbeing. As more residents and businesses come on board, the message remains clear: real change happens when communities take hands.

Young learners at Play-Way Learning Centre engaged in an interactive “Be a Hero for Nature & Your Community” session on Thursday 23 April 2026.

DON'T PAY THAT FINE! RTIA warns of traffic scam

Platinum Publishers | SA – South African motorists are being urged to stay alert after the Road Traffic Infringement Agency (RTIA) issued a warning about a surge in fraudulent traffic fine notices circulating via email and SMS.

These fake notices, often titled “Final Demand: Enforcement Notice”, claim that unpaid fines will result in motorists being blocked from renewing their driving licences or licence discs. Victims are pressured to make immediate payments – sometimes as little as R400 – using fake reference numbers. However, the RTIA has made it clear: these messages are scams.

Motorists are strongly advised not to pay, not to share personal information, and to ignore such messages entirely. Importantly, the RTIA confirmed that electronic servicing of AARTO fines has not yet been implemented, meaning any email or SMS demanding payment is illegal. The warnings relate to the Administrative Adjudication of Road Traffic Offences (AARTO) system, which is currently only being piloted in Johannesburg and Pretoria. National rollout is expected to expand to more municipalities from 1 July 2026, with further phases continuing into December.

Once fully implemented, AARTO will introduce a demerit points system, where drivers accumulate points for traffic violations. Motorists can reach up to 15 points before facing suspension, with repeat offenders risking licence cancellation. On a positive note, points will reduce over time with good behaviour, encouraging safer driving habits.

SCAM ALERT! FAKE TRAFFIC FINE NOTICES

- Don't pay.
- Don't share personal information.
- Verify fines directly with the RTIA.

Rapist gets six life sentences

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg –

The acting provincial commissioner of the South African Police Service in North West, major general (Dr) Ryno Naidoo, has welcomed the sentencing of a 57-year-old man to six life terms for rape. The sentence was handed down at the Tlhabane Regional Court on Thursday, 23 April 2026, following a thorough investigation into crimes committed between September 2022 and October 2023. The accused was found guilty of repeatedly raping three young girls, aged 11 and 12.

According to police spokesperson sergeant Kelebogile Morake, the victims – who are not related – were manipulated into unsafe situations where they were forced to consume alcohol before being assaulted. The abuse came to light after the girls bravely disclosed their ordeal to their parents.

A case was immediately opened, and the victims were taken for medical treatment. Detective constable Tshupo Khunou of the Family Violence, Child Protection and Sexual Offences (FCS) Unit led the investigation and arrested the suspect on the same day the matter was reported, Sunday, 15 October 2023. After several court appearances, the accused was sentenced to six life terms – two for each victim. He was also declared unfit to possess a firearm in terms of the Firearms Control Act and his name was entered into the National Register for Sexual Offenders.

CPS ordered to repay R81.3 million to SASSA

Platinum Publishers | SA – The Public Servants Association (PSA) welcomes the Constitutional Court judgement ordering Cash Paymaster Services (CPS) to repay the South African Social Security Agency (SASSA), which will return funds that were allegedly unlawfully taken from the public purse. CPS was awarded a contract in 2014. The contract was deemed unlawful by the Constitutional Court, and the CPS made a profit exceeding R81 million. This is a serious issue that typically falls under the umbrella of procurement irregularities. When a public entity such as SASSA is found to have bypassed mandatory protocols to award a contract, it undermines the principles of fairness, equity, and transparency that the public procurement process. Whilst the PSA welcomes the Constitutional Court judgement for the repayment, a lack of proper vetting and screening of service providers for public entities such as SASSA remains a serious concern. SASSA's failure to conduct proper due diligence regarding CPS such as financial stability, technical capacity or compliance with tax laws, is questionable. The PSA further urges SASSA to employ multi-layered systems and accountable oversight to enhance current processes.

Are you addicted to short social media videos?

Short-form content on platforms like TikTok, Instagram Reels and YouTube Shorts is designed to keep you scrolling. Quick, endless videos can make time fly – and habits form fast. Do you find yourself watching longer than intended?

"Yes. What started as learning sign language for 30 minutes turned into hours of scrolling. I try to limit myself, but it often leads to procrastination and lost time."

Unathi Sishawu, Rustenburg

"No. Social media has never really interested me. I'll glance at a few things, but I'm definitely not addicted – maybe I'm just old-fashioned."

Cristina Ribeiro, Rustenburg

Should so-called "illegal cigarettes" really be illegal?

With dagga now legal and with electronic cigarette shops around every corner, some residents question why certain cigarettes are still banned. Is it inconsistent — or about tax, regulation, and public safety? While some call it outrageous, others warn illegal products bypass quality control and cost the country revenue. Where do you stand?

Here's how you can participate. Email us at news@platinumweekly.co.za or WhatsApp your response to 081 579 7000.

Include the following:

- Your answer: Yes or No
- Why? We want to hear from you!
- A recent photo – We'd love to publish your pic alongside your answer!
- Your town/city
- Deadline – Be sure to send your response before 12:00 on Monday, 4 May 2026.

Vote results: The outcome of the poll will be featured in our next issue. Be a part of our community's story!

Did you know?

DAGGA LEGAL, ILLEGAL CIGARETTES NOT?... In South Africa, adults are allowed to use cannabis (dagga) in private following the 2018 Constitutional Court cannabis ruling 2018. Yet, certain cigarettes are still labelled "illegal".

For many smokers, this feels inconsistent. If people can legally choose to smoke cannabis or buy electronic cigarettes freely, why not other tobacco products? Critics argue the distinction comes down to taxation and control — raising questions about fairness and personal freedom of choice.

Through Mist, Mud and a Glimpse of Sunshine... THE SPIRIT RUNS ON

Platinum Weekly newspaper | Rustenburg – Rain, mist and muddy trails could not dampen the determination of the #RWFLRustenburg community, as members of Run/Walk for Life Rustenburg took on the natural beauty – and challenges – of Kgaswane Mountain Reserve over the weekend of 25 to 26 April 2026. Wrapped in cool, misty mornings, runners and walkers embraced every step of the journey, navigating water crossings, slippery paths and wooden bridges. Yet, what could have been obstacles became highlights – a reminder that the true reward lies not only in the destination, but in the experience itself. From splashing through streams to carefully finding footing along rugged terrain, the group showed resilience, unity and an unwavering spirit. The ever-changing conditions added a sense of adventure, turning an ordinary run into something memorable. With laughter echoing through the reserve and shoes soaked but spirits high, one message stood clear: no weather can stand in the way of a committed community.
